BT Infinity - broadband through fibre optic cable - is coming to Wrawby!!

After the seismic surveys in the area during January, the white vans working along the A18 in Wrawby recently have been less noticeable, but they are laying fibre optic cables on behalf of BT. This means that by 30th June, at the latest, the village will have access to BT Infinity superfast broadband with download speeds of up to 40Mb—up to four times faster than BT's standard broadband. For many in the village the difference will be even more noticeable as broadband decreases significantly the further you are from the exchange in Brigg.

Great news for everyone with a computer in Wrawby, but especially so for those who run a business or work from home.

In fact, June will be quite a month for Wrawby. The Olympic torch passes through Wrawby on 26th June on its way to eventually light the flame at the Olympic opening ceremony in London in July. The exact time the torch will pass through the village is not clear yet. It will, however, follow the A18 from the Brigg end of the village to the other—probably late in the afternoon.

The big question however is, what should the village do to celebrate/mark an event that will never be repeated—at least not in most villagers' lifetimes? A number of villagers have offered to help if something were to be organised and your parish council is trying to gauge the level of interest as well as deciding what might be done. The church and the Black Horse both seem excellent venues—to see the torch and to wait for it. Bunting or flags in that area have also been suggested. BUT what do you think? If you would like to get involved or just have an idea, please contact one of your parish councillors as soon as possible. The easiest way to do that may be to e-mail them all at councillors@wrawby.org.uk

Lenten Reflections

With pancake mixes in the shops and plastic (and real) lemons abounding, Shrove Tuesday must be upon us (and indeed been and gone by the time you read this). Spring beckons as do the Easter eggs (well, I am a chocaholic), but of course these Easter eggs have been available since Christmas so nothing new there!

To mark this season, a series of Lenten reflections will take place at the home of Marian and Dee Toyne, Glebe Farmhouse, Tunnel Road, Wrawby between 7.30 and 9.00pm. All welcome. Please contact Marian for further details (650016).

WILL YOU JOIN WRABY'S GREEN TEAM?

In this special year of Olympic Torches and Diamond Jubilees, Wrawby Parish Council would like to make the village look a little more attractive by creating several flower beds throughout the village. We are therefore looking for volunteers to create these visual masterpieces and nurture same throughout the summer, ideally we would like two or three people to look after each bed so it does not prove too arduous for any one person. Also if anyone can help with supply of bedding plants or perennials or might be able to bring on plug plants for us, or help in any way other way, please get in touch with Kay Rothery on 653315 or via e-mail kay.rothery@live.co.uk Sponsorship of a bed by a business or family would also be most welcome. An acknowledgement could be placed in the bed if desired.

Wrawby Pre-School

The pre-school would like to thank the village for collecting the Cash for Communities vouchers in the Scunthorpe Telegraph, which raised £89.94 for the pre-school. The Pre-school would also like to thank the Village Hall Lunches which raised a whopping £300.09.

These wonderful sums help us on the way to our target but there is still a way to go. So we would also like to ask those people with internet access to consider visiting the Haven Fun & Fitness website www.havenfunfitness.com and click on the Wrawby Pre-school page to register support. The more people that click on the pre-school page, the more free sports equipment we will get.

Do you recognise this man?? He's usually found in a Hi Vis running top running through Wrawby on his way to Brigg, Scawby or Broughton – well I'm Mike! I have secured a place in the 2012 Virgin London Marathon and have now started the training required to be able to run the event on 22nd April. At the time of writing, I have 15 weeks to go with just 70 training runs adding up to close to 550 miles of road running. I have tried for the past 4 years to gain a place in the event and always said that if I was successful, I would use it to try to raise as many donations as I could to help combat the 2 diseases that have had the most impact on my family.

Both charities are working to find a cure and to support the patients and their families - the first is Breakthrough in Breast Cancer- I'm sure most of you know or have heard of someone who has had to endure this cancer – I lost my mum to Breast Cancer. The second charity is less well known – the Motor Neurone Disease Association (MNDA). MND affects around 3000 people a year in the UK; it reduces muscle function leaving sufferers unable to move, breath or feed themselves and most have lost their lives within 14 months of diagnosis.

Would you consider donating to these two charities - I would certainly appreciate your support and I know the charities would too. If you would like to help please visit <http://uk.virginmoneygiving.com/MichaelReddish>. Thank you in the meantime – and do say hello as I'm running past – if I don't answer it's just that I haven't got enough energy left!

Regards, Mike Reddish

Notes from 7th February Parish Council Meeting

Police Matters

The advice from the police for December 2011 showed an extremely gratifying situation in that there were no recorded crimes for Wrawby, only minor matters (abandoned vehicles etc.) There have, however, been a number of fuel thefts from vehicles in other villages and residents are once again asked to remain vigilant and to report anything suspicious, however minor, to the police. A reminder that the Non-Emergency Telephone Number is 101 - ask for Brigg Police Station.

The Police Neighbourhood Action Team (NAT) have looked at the total crime statistics for 2011 against 2010 for the whole area and these showed an increase in crime recorded of 27% - further evidence of the continuing need to remain concentrated.

Brigg Senior Citizens Committee

Council has been advised that the above committee can organise mobility assistance in Brigg if needed. The mobility scheme is under-used at present and council is advised that volunteers can take the mobility scooter to bus stops, disabled parking areas etc. The service is free but must be pre-booked by ringing the Tourist Centre on 01652 657053.

Information Board etc.

Further work has been carried out on this and the Board will be ordered shortly. As part of the overall scheme, the Parish Council is now considering planting shrubs, flowers etc.in prominent village positions (entering the village, around the new board, around the Village Hall etc.) and is looking for resident's assistance in this, possibly by helping with the planting or a small donation towards the purchase of shrubs etc. Please contact Councillor Kay Rothery on 01652 653315 to advise your willingness to assist.

Walking

The next "Walking for Health" local walk is on 8th March 2012, meet at the Black Horse at 10.30am. All walks are free and led by qualified volunteer walk leaders. Further information is available on 01724 297631 or www.healthwalks.co.uk

Brigg Heritage Centre – Volunteer advert

Interested in history, heritage and the local community? We need people to get involved in developing a new heritage centre for Brigg and the surrounding areas, based at The Angel, Brigg. We are interested in hearing from people who would have an interest in shaping the services the heritage centre delivers. The aspiration is for the centre to be led, managed and run by volunteers as a community venue.

An induction and training will be provided, and you will receive ongoing support from the Council's Tourism team. There are a range of opportunities to get involved: from organising displays, acting as guides, providing talks and leading workshops to the administration and coordination of the centre itself.

Whether you are looking for work experience and new skills, or interested in local history and heritage, we want to hear from you. Please contact Sean Brennan on 07717 587612 sean.brennan@northlincs.gov.uk

About the project

A variety of services are being relocated and developed in The Angel, Brigg. From summer 2012 the library and Local Link will relocate to The Angel ground floor from their existing premises. The first floor of this building is being freed up for community use through development of a heritage centre. This centre will house the Bronze Age Brigg Raft, an ancient raft unearthed along the River Ancholme in the 19th century. We are looking to celebrate the history of all the surrounding areas within the heritage centre, so are looking to hear from people from Brigg and beyond.

Respect

As one who was a teenager in the late 1980s, I must confess to being a fan of Bruce Willis. Here in England he's perhaps best known as the actor who made his name in "Moonlighting" and went on to have many box office hits, arguably he's most famous for the "Die Hard" series of films. However in America he is also a well-regarded Soul and Rhythm and Blues singer. He is also a very gifted harmonica player. Look him up on You Tube – you'll find clips of him singing and playing with BB King, Eric Clapton and many other great musicians. In 1987, Willis released an album, "The Return of Bruno" which was very successful. From that album Willis' cover of the Staple Singers 1971 classic soul song "Respect Yourself" reached number 5 in the US charts and number 2 in the UK.

In life, there times when we respect ourselves. And if this is true, then there will be times when we don't respect ourselves. There are occasions in all our lives when we get things right – making good choices, good decisions, acting in an appropriate manner. And there will be times when we get things wrong – through bad decisions, choices or behaviour. We are, after all, only human. For me, personally, the times I have most respect for myself come when I act in a humble way, and when I maintain my integrity. Conversely, when I allow my ego to get the better of myself, or when my integrity is compromised by my thoughts, words or actions, I lose all sense of self-respect.

Respect is also a vital element of our human relationships'. As the song says, "If you disrespect everybody that you run into, how in the world do you think anybody 'sposed to respect you". One would hope that the days of people disliking one another because of our differences would be long gone, but sadly not – society is still scarred by the mistrust and hatred of those who do not agree. Yet mutual respect is an expression of love. Where the one that shouts the loudest, for the longest, gets their own way, there is no love, or mutual respect. And this can only be harmful to us as individuals and to society.

We are, at this time making our way through the season of Lent, and moving towards Holy Week. We shall soon be entering the Triduum, beginning with the commemoration of the Institution of the Last Supper, and spiritually recalling the events of Maundy Thursday through to Easter Day. At the heart of all this is the God who created the heavens and the earth, and all that fills them. The same God whom we celebrated becoming human and entering our world at Christmas. The same God who gained for humanity salvation through the Cross.

The liturgy of Maundy Thursday is shaped by the new commandment (Mandatum novum – hence Maundy) that Jesus gave his followers, 'love one another, as I have loved you'. Ought we too not love both ourselves and one another. And if we can love one another and ourselves, it is possible for us to respect ourselves and thus reflect the image of God within us.

As we journey through the season of Lent, let us seek to let go of the things which separate us from God and neighbour, and which cause us to lose our self-respect, in the faithful desire to nurture love and charity in all our relationships.
