Christian Aid Week
9 -15 May 2010

Christian Aid Week, launched in 1957, is Britain's longest-running fundraising week—seven amazing days of fundraising, action and prayer. It's a time when communities all over the country get together to raise funds to make real and lasting changes in the lives of some of the world's poorest people.

Just one of the areas of the world to be helped by Christian Aid is Haiti. It is three months since a devastating earthquake hit Haiti. The quake measured 7.0 on the Richter scale – a relatively low magnitude compared to other significant earthquakes – yet it devastated the country. But Haiti was in crisis before the earthquake. The poorest country in the western hemisphere, with crippling poverty, non-existent infrastructure, environmental damage and a weak state; quite simply, Haiti was unable to cope with this disaster.

Christian Aid and its partners continue to respond to one of the worst humanitarian catastrophes in recent times. Many of its partners are still providing daily food rations to communities, as well as supplying tarpaulin to make family shelters in advance of the rainy season that begins in May. Medicines and hygiene kits are also vital in helping families resist infection and disease over the coming months. Christian Aid and its partners are developing programmes to help whole communities recover.

Wrawby will again be supporting Christian Aid Week when collectors start to call with the distinctive red envelopes. Please be as generous as you can. Even in these difficult times, so many in the world still need our help.

POVERTY—LET'S END IT

Children Writing About The Ocean

If you are surrounded by ocean you are an Island. If you don't have ocean all round you, you are incontinent. ( Wayne , age 7)

Sharks are ugly and mean, and have big teeth, just like Emily Richardson. She's not my friend any more. (Kylie, age 6)

When ships had sails, they used to use the trade winds to cross the ocean. Sometimes when the wind didn't blow the sailors would whistle to make the wind come. My brother said they would have been better off eating beans. (William, age 7)

Some fish are dangerous. Jellyfish can sting. Electric eels can give you a shock. They have to live in caves under the sea where I think they have to plug themselves into chargers. (Christopher, age 7)

The ocean is made up of water and fish. Why the fish don't drown I don't know. (Bobby, age 6)

My dad was a sailor on the ocean. He knows all about the ocean. What he doesn't know is why he quit being a sailor and married my mum. (James, age 7)

Mermaids live in the ocean. I like mermaids. They are beautiful and I like their shiny tails, but how on earth do mermaids get pregnant? Like, really? (Helen, age 6)

PARISH COUNCIL NEWS

Police Report - received for February. The report showed that there were no recorded crimes in Wrawby during February, the only items being reported were "domestic" incidents, some suspicious occurrences and an alleged criminal damage. Residents are, as always, asked to remain careful and vigilant.

Brigg Childrens Centre

The Council has received details of Surestart Children's Centre's activities for children aged 0 - 5 and their families. Various groups and activities exist for the benefit of toddlers and their parents and the Centre provide such things as stay and play, baby massage, support for young parents, support for expectant parents and a range of parent training and family support. Full details of the various services offered, the locations and dates etc, are on the sheet displayed in the Parish Notice Board, outside Wrawby Hall Care Home. Full details can be obtained from Lesley Goodwin, the Manager of the service on 01724 296414,

Lydian Choir to perform in Wrawby

A concert by the Lydian Choir has been arranged on the evening of Sunday 27th June in St Mary Church.

Full details will be published next month but book the date in your diaries now.

School Governors wanted!

School Governors are the largest volunteer force in the country and have an important part to play in raising school standards through their three key roles of setting strategic direction, ensuring accountability and monitoring and evaluating school performance.

At Wrawby St Mary's we are looking for someone to join the team of Governors and to complement the skills and knowledge that we already have around the table.

We are looking for someone from the school's community who wishes to make a positive contribution to children's education. You do not need to be a parent or grandparent of a pupil just someone who wants to help. Governors must be aged 18 or over at the date of their election or appointment but there is no upper age limit.

I find that being a governor is an enjoyable, interesting and rewarding role. We are a team, so decisions are taken on that basis, training is available in many areas of the work that we do and you are not expected to have professional expertise in education matters.

We would especially like to hear from anyone in the community with legal skills, financial skills or involvement with sports clubs, secondary or post compulsory education. However, if you just want to find out more don't be put off coming forward for a chat. Do please get in touch telephone Rosie Hoyle 653154

Wrawby Show 2010

Wrawby Horticultural Society's Annual Show will be held on Saturday 7th August in the Village Hall.

Following last year's record number of entries, hopes are high of a great range of entries for 2010 and now is the time to get planting, sowing and preparing.

Correctly Connected, Rivers Protected

When we think about river pollution, we might assume it comes from places like factories, farms and industry. Yet in many cases the pollution in our rivers comes from a much less obvious source - our homes. Incorrect plumbing could mean that waste water from dishwashers, washing machines, sinks and even toilets is flushed directly into a local river. The Environment Agency are encouraging us to check our drains.

How does it work?

There are normally two forms of drainage in most houses connected to mains sewers - surface water and foul water. Surface water drains carry rainwater from road surfaces and rooftops into local rivers and streams which flows into the river untreated. Foul water drains carry waste water from toilets, sinks, baths and household appliances to the sewage treatment works. This water is treated before it can safely flow back into river and streams. Some older houses may have a combined drainage system which takes both surface and waste water. In this case all the water goes into the foul sewer for treatment.

For more information on misconnected pipes and how you can check your home, visit www.connectright.org.uk or telephone the Environment Agency on 0845 603 3113.

Police Report

Wrawby once again has had little crime to report which is promising. The Brigg Neighbourhood Team are aware that, although calls for service are low, you still require regular patrols from us and so we are continuing to monitor Wrawby. If residents feel they are having problems in a particular area, please contact us here at Brigg Police Station so that we can provide you with an increased presence from the Neighbourhood Team.

Brigg and the surrounding villages over the past couple of weeks have suffered from a few house burglaries. Please be extra vigilant and keep an eye on your neighbour's property. If you see anything suspicious or any unusual activity, please make a note of anything which stands out and then let us know straight away. Close windows and lock them if possible. Use door chains and house alarms if you have them fitted. Don't leave anything of value on display or in reach of windows and doors.

In addition it appears that metal thefts are again unfortunately on the increase in the villages surrounding Brigg.

Should you see any vehicles that you think are acting suspiciously again we urge residents to contact us.

The more information you can pass over the phone the better, a few things to look for that help us are;

- vehicle registration numbers, colour and type of vehicle, any damage to the vehicle, any markings which stand out – such as advertising or phone numbers?
- how many people, male/ female, style/ colour of clothing, manufacturers emblems, patterns or motif which stand out on clothes
- approximate age, hair colour/ style – long or short, curly or straight, spiky or bald, clean shaved face, beard, glasses, carrying anything?

At the time of writing, the road works on Melton Road are nearly complete and hopefully will be completed on time. I hope this hasn't caused too much disruption to the village and residents. We have had to use the diversion too so we have been monitoring the situation and have responded to a few residents concerns regarding parking and increase in vehicles but on the whole it appears to have been all right.

FROM THE REGISTERS

FUNERAL : 6TH APRIL ENID CONBOY

BAPTISM : 18TH APRIL CHARLOTTE ELLEN MAY TAYLOR

The AGM of Wrawby St Mary's Parochial Church Council was held on Monday 12th April in the church. The meeting included reports from various post holders together with the election of officers and the PCC. The next PCC meeting is at 7.30pm on Monday 10th May in the church

Wrawby Ladies Afternoon Club meets on the second Monday of every month between 2.00 p.m. and 4.00 p.m. in the Village Hall.

Wrawby's Methodist Congregation host a coffee morning with cream scones at the Church on the first Saturday of every month between 10.00 a.m. and 12.00 noon.

Remember St. Mary's Church is open between 9.00 a.m. and 3.00 p.m. on weekdays during school term time.

The Village Hall Lunches have now finished until the Autumn. The lunches continued to be very popular and the funds raised will go to Wrawby pre-School and Christian Aid. Full report in next month's magazine

Wrawby Community Choir is still keen to recruit further new members (and particularly male voices). The choir meets most Wednesdays in term time for an hour at the church. Rehearsals are informal and there are no auditions. If you are interested in joining, please ring Caroline on 653155.

A group of British cyclists, who are on a challenging route in the United States to raise funds for a charity, each morning call in to a UK radio station to report the previous day's adventures. This morning, one of them was tickled pink at spotting this notice outside a church:

"I don't do politics!"

The TV interviewer had stopped someone in the street to ask about the election - and this was their response.

Maybe it's also what you've been thinking these last few weeks - as you switched TV channels the moment you caught sight of the Party leaders.

"I don't do politics" seems to be the latest put-down to use alongside the already well-established "I don't do religion". And I can think of enough pretty sickening reasons - from phantom mortgages to paedophile priests - why, in the case of both religion and politics, this kind of reaction makes sense.

But here's the problem: In our daily lives we all in one way or another 'do politics' - we all act politically. It's just that we don't choose to label it.

Every time we choose whether or not to get involved in other people's problems or in other people's arguments, we are acting politically. It's about whether or not we choose to use the limited power we have as individuals within a human society.

We can, of course, choose to get involved in helpful ways or in ways that make the situation worse. However, if we choose not to get involved - like when we choose not to vote - this effectively means that we are giving our power away. And we all know that those who get power this way - without having earned it - rarely do us any favours!

Much the same is true of religion. All of us, in one way or another, 'do religion' - mostly without wanting to label it.

Every time we feel angry or upset inside because we see something that we feel is unjust or cruel, we are expressing something about what we believe deep down - our 'religious' feelings. On the positive side, these same feelings are at work when we experience something specially precious or valuable - even 'awesome'. Sometimes the angry feelings will be expressed as anger against God; they may even persuade us that there is no God. But whichever way we react, we are 'doing religion' nonetheless.

The reality is that, if we are healthy human beings, these deep down convictions then shape what we do. You could say "Our religion informs our politics" - or even "Our politics reveals our religion". But it won't necessarily be party politics and it won't always be organised religion.

These days many people would prefer to speak of 'spirituality' rather than 'religion'. That's fine - provided that we realise that our spirituality and our religion aren't just cosy feelings inside us that give us an inner peace, but rather that they are powerful forces for good or ill that shape what we are able to give to the world around us. The religion we choose to shape our lives makes far more difference than most of us realise.

Maybe the message of an Israelite prophet from 2500 years ago shows what it's really about. The prophet Micah offers this 'Word of the Lord God' - seriously good advice for newly-elected politicians and for each one of us:

"What does the Lord God require of you, but to do justice, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with your God?"

John Cole
