A Rare Harvest?!

The BBC has a penchant for good April Fools gags and one of its most legendary took place in 1957, when it duped the British public into thinking that spaghetti grew on trees.

The current affairs programme Panorama reported that Switzerland was enjoying a bumper crop of the starchy strands, thanks to drier weather and controlling the dreaded spaghetti weevil (a type of beetle). It even displayed video footage of women harvesting strands from trees, which was more than enough to fool the public - especially since spaghetti was still a rare food in the U.K.

Hundreds phoned the BBC to ask how to grow such a tree. The advice: stick a strand in tomato sauce and hope for the best.

We apologise for the poor quality of some of the pictures in the September edition. Future editions will be sent to the printers electronically for reproduction, rather than photocopied from a single original. We hope readers will notice the improvement and that the change will mean we can include more photographs.

Neighbourhood Watch - Rogue Traders

The following incident has been reported to Neighbourhood Watch coordinators throughout North Lincolnshire. Unfortunately it occurred in Wrawby and we urge all village residents to take note and be vigilant.....

Between 1130 a.m and 1230 a.m on Tuesday 4th September, a group of unknown males visited the home of an elderly woman in Wrawby on the pretext of saying that a tile on her roof needed replacing. The men offered to carry out the work for £10, then stated that £300 of work needed doing. The victim eventually gave the offenders £80 and no receipt was offered, nor any evidence that work was done.

This offence may be the first of many to be carried out in the North Lincs area. Can you be vigilant and keep a special eye on the elderly and vulnerable in your areas, reporting any suspicious persons or incidents to the Police and, recording any vehicle numbers.

James Tovey, one of the four bearers who carried the Olympic Torch through Wrawby, has been in touch with the Editors to say how much the experience meant to him.

In his message to Wrawby News he says: "Thanks again for such a wonderful day... A personal highlight was being able to visit your village school on the morning of the run and speak with the amazingly engaged children there - and then see them on the roadside when I came through on the bus. A special day that will live long in my memory. I will always remember Wrawby with great affection and I look forward to returning for a pint in the Black Horse....."

Parish Council Meeting - 11th September

The July police report indicates that in the Brigg and Wolds Ward, crime levels remain low and thankfully once again crime figures for Wrawby show that in July only 1 crime (theft in a dwelling) was recorded. As always, residents must remain vigilant - the police are always happy to respond to reports of suspicious activity.

Vehicle nuisance continues to be an issue in many villages and the police advise that they take this issue extremely seriously. If you are affected by this, the police ask that as much information as possible (vehicle registrations, descriptions etc.) be passed on so that those responsible can be dealt with.

The "Jubilee" plantings in the village have proved a huge success, with the Best Kept Village judges saying "well done, Wrawby". Obviously the bedding plants will soon be dying off and Council has set aside funds for winter shrubs, pansies/polyanthus/bulbs etc. to be purchased and planted. Any assistance residents can give to this would be much appreciated. Please contact Kay Rothery (653315 or Kay.Rothery@live.co.uk), Louise Tandon (tdonopl6271@btinternet.com) or Bob Green 653039 or bobgreen@lineone.net) if you can help.

With winter approaching, Council reminds residents that last year Wrawby took delivery of 2 tonnes of winter salt for paths and roads not covered by Nth Lincs council. As last winter was relatively temperate, most if this is still in situ at Colin Day's premises. Please contact any councillor or Colin if this is needed. An extra salt bin has been purchased by the council for placing at the top of Bakersfield. This will shortly be delivered and installed. Graham Foster, Clerk

My challenge of a lifetime

As some of you may be aware, this year as part of my gap year I was a crew member on the Clipper Round the World Yacht Race 11-12. I have recently returned having completed the final 2 legs of the race from San Francisco all the way back to Southampton, and I can honestly say it has been everything I ever wished it to be and more.

I find it quite hard to explain how the 4 months at sea were. I have been challenged more than I ever thought I would be, through lack of sleep doing a 5 hour watch system, the intense physical exertion every day, being on deck through bad weather, crashing cold waves and getting along with my 15 strong crew.

At times I have had the best time of my life and at other times I've never been more scared, but overall I can describe it as an experience I will never forget. I have seen things that not many people will ever see, made some friends for life and achieved some of my wildest dreams -sailing across the Atlantic being the main one, not forgetting it was a race, we were being followed by a hurricane and didn't have a shower for the entire 15 day crossing!

I logged almost 10,000 nautical miles, sailing a quarter of the way around the world on board my boat Geraldton Western Australia, and overall we finished 7th out of the fleet of 10 yachts.

Thanks to everyone who has supported me along the way.

For photos and videos please visit www.lucy-sailing.com and all my blog entries from the trip are there to read too!

Remember to say "thank you"

I was picking harvest hymns for a service the other day, and found myself putting "we plough the fields and scatter" on the list. I imagine for many of us this will transport us straight back to school days, singing it in a hall full of fruit and vegetables. I remember the sale of produce after the harvest festival at my junior school, and one of my most vivid memories is buying a jar of Mr Walker's honey. Mr Walker was one of our teachers and he kept bees. From time to time he would tell us about what his bees were up to, and each harvest he brought several jars of honey in – and they were always the first things to be sold! For a couple of years I was too slow to get my hands on a jar, but the year when I did manage to buy one I was so pleased with myself. Isn't it funny the things we remember from harvest festival? I also remember my mum covering a mushroom box with tissue paper and then filling it with a selection of different vegetables, for me to take as my contribution to the harvest sale. And of course I remember that we always sang "we plough the fields and scatter". Happy times!

And as we see the harvesters gathering in the crops in the fields, it is good to have a time when we say "thank you". Thank you to our farmers who work on the land to plough, scatter and reap. Thank you to those workers who turn grain to flour. Thank you to the bakers who make the flour into bread. And thank you to God, who "sends the rain and sunshine" so that the grain grows, and there is a harvest to gather.

I read a piece recently that said "Imagine if you woke up tomorrow and all you had were those things that you had thanked God for today". Imagine! We all take it for granted that we can pop down to the supermarket/butchers/bakers and buy what we need to eat. How often do we give a minutes thought to where it came from, how it got there and who laboured long and hard to produce it? And how often do we acknowledge God's part in all this? If we turned up at the shops one day to be told that we could only buy whatever we had thanked God for the day before, how many of us would be going home empty handed?

It is all too easy in the hustle and bustle of modern day life to pass from one day to the next without ever pausing to say "thank you God" for the things that we are blessed with each day. It is all too easy to take "our daily bread" for granted.

Churches throughout the world hold harvest festival services, and in many countries the harvest will be very meagre indeed. We are blessed. Details of Wrawby Harvest festival are in this magazine – please join us to say thank you, if you are able. If you are not able, why not sing a verse or 2 of "we plough the fields and scatter" and say a simple "thank you, God" for the food you enjoy each day?

Kate Marr
